Taricka Clinton is a dynamic entrepreneur and the Director of Community Engagement and Events for After the Game, a youth sports organization dedicated to keeping young athletes engaged and active. With a Master's degree in Hospitality and Tourism Management, Taricka combines her academic background and practical experience to create impactful and memorable events.

As the Founder and CEO of Travel Landseairge, a burgeoning travel startup, Taricka channels her passion for travel and her love of building communities into her professional endeavors. Her expertise in hospitality and tourism, coupled with her innovative approach to event planning, has made her a notable figure in the industry.

Taricka is known for her free spirit, an old soul, and a childlike enthusiasm for discovering unique and fun experiences. Her hobby of seeking out novel adventures complements her professional life, providing a constant source of inspiration and creativity.

Balancing a professional and casual tone, Taricka's approachability and dedication shine through in her work, making her a valued member of her professional network. Her ability to connect with others and her unwavering commitment to youth sports and community engagement make her an inspiring leader and a trusted colleague.
